Afternoon Teas means afternoon chat.
The subjects are varied, they'll see to that:
The last new book — the latest plays —
Freak dances — and the Jazz-time craze —
The subject of "Teas" of course, is raised,
And, though we say it, Browning's always are praised

The resignation of Sir Robert Borden as premier may mean changes in the Cabinet, should any Cabinet Ministers resign, it would very likely mean defeat of new men at the bye-elections and cause the defeat of the Government, are the farmers prepared to still play the same old game of the politician as follows:-

The Farmer of Yesterday

I sing to that good fellow
On whom the parties lean.
The office-chaser's refuge.
By name of Farmer Green.
The work-horse of the nation
Who never goes on strike,
Salute him, party heelers.
You will never see his like.

He don't believe in unions,
A shy old bird is he.
And that is just the feature
That we can use, you see.
The only knight of labor
That I can find to-day
Who lets us run his land
The good old party way

He's far the greatest ass —
The jawline artist has.
He'll swallow without question
The rankest party jazz.
The day before election
Just promise him the moon
You'll slide right into office
For he's a simple coon.

God bless the good old farmer.
The backbone of the land.
The politicians' blessing.
An A-1 extra brand
The jawline artist has.
When taxes must be paid.
The softest mark for timber.
The Lord has ever made.

or are you going to play the game as the farmer of today should:-

The Farmer of To-day

Sound the farmer's clarion boys!
We'll sing a marching song,
Our chant of coming victory.
A million voices strong.
Come join the mighty chorus
That's sung from coast to coast
By farming men of Canada to-day

Hurrah! Hurrah!
The Farmer's Jubilee.
Hurrah! Hurrah!
The song for you and me,
They've set the time and tune for us
In old Ontario
We farmers of Canada to-day
Equity our slogan, boys.
An honest deal for all.
The farmers' party watchword,
By which we'll stand or fall.
We make no truce with grafters.
Or thieving politicians.
We aim for honest government to-day

Hurrah! Hurrah!
Come swell the tide of song.
Hurrah! Hurrah!
Let's beat the cause along.
For Caldwell in New Brunswick.
And Gould, Saskatchewan.
Have blazed the road we're following to-day.

this was not the fault of the Fish Coon

the public were looking forward to a no music was supplied, to help out the

"He hungry? that gentleman responded. "God bless you, Edna, no I never expect to be hungry again. I can eat anything. I haven't eaten anything while for years, as you well know." And he frowned at the grinning driver, who muttered—

"Gracious alive! is that very soft for a long time, explained the girl. We're up here to work back for him, think we can do it, Mr. Washburn?"

Her laughing face gave grave as she put the question, and the parlor resting deep in her violet eyes must have found an echoing chord in the old nurse's breast.

"Oh, hell, yes," and then quickly and apologetically—"You see, Miss, we cure 'em all up here in these highlands."

Something like a smile fluttered across the delicate face of the man in the back seat, then a little pause, then a frown gathered between his brows. Nothing it the girl's face grew grave.

The driver leaning forward towards the old nurse's breast, then he asked, "He missed, by hair's breadth, a rough bound lying along the track, puckered up his lips, and then plunked a stream of tobacco into his state face, sighing as though he had earned a difficult task satisfactorily, and twisting about again, remarked, "If you don't get him up here, you ain't never going to get hungry. That's all."

"I scarcely expect to," said the man from the city peacefully. "I haven't eaten a square meal or slept a good sleep for over a year. 'Ugh!' he shivered. "This silence over them was awful. It got on one's nerves." He sank lower in his seat and the girl put an arm about his drooping shoulders.

"The doctor said this forest cure try would fix you up as good as new, Uncle, she comforted. "You must give it a fair chance. You must try to forget that your nerves are frayed, and not think of business at all. I'm going to see that you get real hungry, and I know you, when you're hungry up here in this clear balsam-filled air, won't he, Mr. Washburn?"

The settler lifted his chin and scratched his red nose reflectively. "This here country is the damnest all-around country for permin' the eatin' an' sleepin' an' bein' at ease," he exclaimed. "I've got a boy named Tommie; he's a rangar now up in Temagami Preserve, and he binds his hand to do anything I want, even my missus, who's a tarter to work when she's real woke up, it that tarnation hard to get awake mornin' that I'd rather get up an' light the fire myself than try t' tussel with her. Yes, siree," he chuckled, lashing his whip harmlessly above the hollow backs of his two horses. "You can sleep all right up here. Why d'nt I all the Ozones, that there creek that you have to see a face afore you kin breathe it. Fact."

He chuckled to the sorely and cracked his whip at an impatient chipmunk who had climbed a stump close by the roadside to investigate the clatter made by the loose spokes of the ancient democrat.

"Take them horses now, he shouted, 'they go to sleep soon as they're hitched, an' they stay asleep all day, rot 'em!' It mightn't unsatisfactory, 'cause they don't want to, but they keepin' awake durin' business in the duty of beast as well as man. They're both of 'em dissatisfied, but of the pair I guess old Moll is the off one 'n' the dissatisfied ones."

"In what respect, Mr. Washburn, laughed the girl. "Why lots of ways, but just for instance, this way. Tother day I had a good chance to wrap her fur in three-year-old milk belonging to Jake Stoker of Cedar Mills. Wall, we'd just about made the wrap when Moll dropped dead in the snow. I snored like a house afire. Jake, he declared as she had the roarsers an' backed onto the dead. Hump, talk about not bein' able to sleep! They sleep too tarnation much up here. That's the only thing wrong with this place!"

"They rounded a little curve in the road and the laugh on the girl's face died as her eyes caught the glorious vista ahead before her. Low down over the distant tamaracks that edged a broad lake the sun lay like a great ball of fire. Just beneath it lay the forest, dense, undulating, deepening from grass-green to moss-green and melting to slate-drab as it climbed the steep hills of Old Cedar Mills, miles distant. Close in, along the shore, the first and tamaracks lifted jagged, tipped heads towards a sky of swimming blue, and upon the face of the lake rested a medley of riotous colors such as the girl from the city had never before seen.

Her uncle, too, had caught the spirit of the place. To him also that Northern sunset was a revelation. About it was a grandeur, a beauty as fabulous as it was glorious. Together they gazed westward. Far away swept the sparsely timbered upland rising before them, and the forest melted into well-nigh impenetrable forest-reserve miles distant, like a wisp of grey smoke in a sombre gold-colored cloud for the sunset lights were spraying the tree-tops of the great forest.

For the girl at least, the faience of a long railway journey and the bumpy drive from the distant station over rocky, uneven road were forgotten, as she drank in this glorious panorama. Her artist's soul rejoiced, and her fingers ached to dig brushes and colors from the big trunk strapped behind her, so that she might paint it all. But the desire passed quickly as she felt a shudder run through the frame of the man beside her, and heard his quick sigh of weariness.

"A little Edna, a little," he replied, then with a laugh, "do you know, girl, I believe I am actually getting hungry?"

At his words the link form on the front seat straightened up, and Washburn faced about, his blue eyes twinkling.

"My ole woman she says to me, 'I was kind of Moll and then here to the democrat, says she, 'Pa Washburn, you 'cause them people here have seen seven, 'cause I'm going to have a ready what is a meal. 'In goin' to have ham and eggs an' pan cakes and maple syrup,' says she."

"An' says I, 'Gosh all heck! Moll, was the use of settin' up a lumberer's layout for them people?' says I. "What you best not do is get some meat an' hot milk an' weak tea ready for 'em."

He took off his cap and waved it in the air, with a recouping whoop and a shout, "I'm as good as dead. His infectious merriment caught his listeners. They laughed with him.

"Say," grinned the settler, after the paroxysm had passed. "She is a wonder, that ole woman of mine. Ain't her like anywhere in these northern parts. What you s'pose she was on, standin' right there with her feet planted an' her two hundred pounds of prime womanhood bubblin' right over with indignation. Says she, 'Pa Washburn, if you don't think anything of your own reputation, it's no reason I shouldn't think something of you. 'Sbody kin ever say, truthfully, that I ever fed my horses slops, says she, 'an' I ain't goin' to do it no more. Jest fer what you want, I'm goin' to have him, the timber-slacker, ketch some brook trout and I ain't 't all unlikely that I'll cream a Shanghai chicken to cook,' says she, 'anyways, you kin depend on it, my reputation as the best cook in Lookup is goin' to be soaked.'"

The Married Teacher

No Reason For Prejudice Against Employment of Married Women

It should have been needless, but it was probably wise, for the Carnegie Foundation, by the report of a distinguished committee of educators, to denounce in strong terms the remaining prejudices against the employment of married women as teachers.

Says the committee "There is probably no work in which marriage and a normal home life could contribute a qualification more essential than they could to teaching." The woman teacher is too often a "detached public servant in a class apart. If married and a householder having children, she becomes a vitally interested and respected factor in society."

A part of the old prejudice against married teachers took root in the silly cry, "Let them stay at home, give the girls a chance!" Such a view of the skilled veteran to the beginner was unwise at any time. It is simply ridiculous now, when hundreds of thousands of children have no teachers at all, and other hundreds of thousands but inefficient substitutes. Yet in how many cities in New York, for instance, is the old feeling even in the formal rules of Boards of Education—New York World.

War Criminals

Germany Does Not Give Much Indication of Keeping Faith With Allies

The second subject taken up at the Spa conference does not require much time. Germany herself suggested the Leipzig tribunal for the trial of Germans accused of war crimes. This was a striking departure from the original plan, which suggested that outrages should be handed over to courts in Allied countries. France took less interest in the punishment of war criminals than she did in the matter of disarmament and reparations, but the British Premier made a strong plea for it in the Paris conference and in his speeches in England.

The Leipzig plan seemed to many an abandonment of the whole case, because it would allow the Germans of today approved the war methods of the Empire, and the former rulers and officers. In accordance with the program Britain and France sent forward a list of accused persons including some officers in high command in the army and navy, certain subordinate officers, officials who had taken in occupied districts in France and Belgium, and commanders of German prisons. Particulars seem to have been furnished in at least forty cases.

The German minister of justice said that some of the accused have been arrested. He gives various reasons, none of which seem to be good, except that some of the alleged criminals are dead. He says that some of those have left the country, and no doubt others will follow if they are warned that the case is likely to be prosecuted seriously.

George with characteristic bluntness, remarked that the Germans were breaking their word in regard to this. He said that the Germans had been arrested. He gives various reasons, none of which seem to be good, except that some of the alleged criminals are dead. He says that some of those have left the country, and no doubt others will follow if they are warned that the case is likely to be prosecuted seriously.

We do not suppose that anybody expects these prosecutions to come to much, but the manner in which they are conducted or abandoned will be an excellent test of the present-day faith of Germany—Vancouver Province.

Honor Roll of Farmers

Saskatchewan Grain Growers Will Commemorate Their Sacrifice in Great War

(From The Toronto Globe) Five hundred and sixty-seven young farmers members of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association—all of whom volunteered for service in the Great War—were "killed in action." In a unique and fitting manner the executive of the association proposes to commemorate their service and sacrifice.

After some months of deliberation, during which several proposed forms of memorial have been under consideration, the executive has decided to adopt the pictorial Honor Roll submitted by James Henderson, of Fort Qu'Appelle, a western artist of considerable note. This Honor Roll will take the form of a remarkable painting comprising a series of pictures which tells in chronological order the story of the war. The first represents Britannia with her trumpet calling her sons to arms.

The second shows Jack Canuck hurriedly leaving his sheaves in the harvest field as the call comes to him. The third reveals a scene of the great transport en route to the fighting front, while the fourth exhibits him in action, "going over the top" into No Man's Land. The fifth and sixth scenes are linked. One pictures "the rows upon rows," the hallowed graves in Flanders' Fields; the other the news of final victory received by Canadian homes. In the centre of the picture is a scroll upon which the names of five hundred and sixty-seven members of the association who gave their lives for their country are inscribed. The painting will be over four feet high and some ten feet in length. It is to be hung on the east wall of the central hall of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, on the upper floor of the Farmers' Building in Saskatoon.

The service of the gallant young farmers who sleep ponder near the fields of their glory does not end with death. Today, tomorrow, and in years to come, when the prairies of the Canadian West open their bosom to the Canadian soldier, who died with death. The Value of Trees

One Square Yard of Leaf Surface Purifies Great Amount of Air

It has been calculated that a single tree is able through its leaves to purify the air from the carbonic acid arising from the respiration of a considerable number of men, perhaps a dozen, or even more. The volume of carbonic acid exhaled by a human being in the course of twenty-four hours is put at about 100 gallons, but scientists estimate that a single square yard of leaf surface, against both the upper and the under sides of the leaves, can, under favorable circumstances, decompose at least a gallon of carbonic acid in a day. One hundred square yards of leaf surface then would suffice to keep the air pure for one man, but the leaves of a tree of moderate size present a surface of many hundred square yards. All other forms of vegetable life act similarly in abstracting the noxious carbon from the atmosphere.

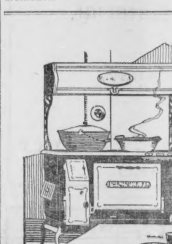

His Essay

"It Pays To Advertise"

That it does "Pay to Advertise" was clearly shown at Burdett's Celebration last Monday when the Largest Crowds of People that Burdett has ever had, came to them from the furthestmost points, having heard Burdett's call to them through the pages of the Bow Island Review and also the Large Posters.

The only regret felt by the huge crowd on that happy day, was the absence of the Aeroplane, that unfortunately had an accident on the previous day, and so was unable to be present, but this absence will be fully compensated for in another two weeks, when the untiring Men of Burdett, knowing no obstacles or defeat to their plans, intend to have an Aeroplane Exhibition and Balloon that will be Free for all, so everyone will again have the chance to spend an intensely happy day.

Such a keen desire on the part of everyone in Burdett, to make Burdett a leading Western Town combining healthy and robust sport with good, well trained Business dealing and fair play to all, will eventually place Burdett in a very high and envied position, such as is desired by all really progressive Towns and Cities.

The Rainmaker

We think that the people of Burdett were not given a very nice deal by Hatfield, who after signing a Contract to be in Burdett by 15th July at the latest, and to commence operations to try to induce Rain to fall, sends a letter only a week before the date, as far from him to be there, saying "that some contract previously signed by him had suddenly turned up, so that would prevent him from keeping his Contract with Burdett."

It looks to the public, as though Hatfield prefers his own California to venturing into (to him) unknown parts of Canada.

We wonder if he had a sudden attack of "Cold Feet"?

Anyway he must know, that it has cost our Farmers in many Districts quite a respectable sum of money, using Motor Cars and high priced Gasoline running around to form Rain Districts and to raise the $5000 he said, must be deposited in Banks to guarantee his pay when finished.

Now he has left our Farmers in the lurch, we think it only right, he should pay the Expenses incurred.

What do you say Farmers, is the Right and Fair thing for Hatfield to do, to be both a Man and a Sport?

LOCAL RAINS

The intensely heavy Rains in the early hours of last Thursday morning proceeded by the thunder-storms and rain of Wednesday evening, has simply soaked the land in our District, much to the delight and thankfulness of our Farmers, as the hot spell of the past few days was doing considerable harm, but now the Crops will be thoroughly revived and view are now expressed that there is a good chance of a very fair sized Crop in these Districts after such a good downpour of rain, for which everyone can be exceedingly thankful.

Comparisons

Three years in the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence given Charles Shinnel of Eastview, for having stolen some chickens.

The Canadian Government are allowing Canadian dealers and jobbers to rush their Sugar supplies by scores of automobiles daily across from the Niagara side over to the United States, since they can get a higher price, thus leaving Canadians without their proper supply of Sugar and keeping up the present extortionate Price at the will of a group of grafters.

They are Robbers of a much worse character than the stealer of chickens who gets three years in Jail: in proportion to their much bigger Robbery from the Canadian Public, these Sugar Grafters, should get thirty years apiece.

Now while the Profiters are piling up ill gotten wealth and making the struggle to live, a hundred per cent harder for the Canadian public, a poor returned disabled soldier who signs himself "Reggie Trench" is given a chance to take up land and so be able with his own daily toil to struggle out a livelihood for himself.

When the War started, and the Drums beat to arms, Flags waved amid the deafening cheers of the Canadian people, who were in the ranks of the Heroes and faced Death in its most terrible forms on the distant battle fields of Europe, to protect all we held most dear, he fought for Freedom, Democracy and the Maple Leaf, the emblem of our fair Dominion of Canada, and what is the reward in the ranks of the Heroes and faced Death in its most terrible forms on the distant battle fields of Europe, to protect all we held most dear, he fought for Freedom, Democracy and the Maple Leaf, the emblem of our fair Dominion of Canada, and what is the reward?

We promised to "Keep the Home Fires Burning" for him when he returned, are those in the high place keeping their word to our Heroes or are they making us a Shame and a Mockery to all real men?

C. P. R.

The Canadian Pacific Railway it seems are more than ever bent on giving their Employees some of the brightest side of life.

We here at Bow Island we see that they have laid on water from the Water Tank to the Depot for the service and comfort of our esteemed Agent Mr. L.M. Collier and his wife and family.

Also we see a Garden is being planned to be laid out, which will be a pleasant retreat for our Agent after a long hot and tiring day's work in the faithful attention to duties that daily entail the safety and lives of Passengers and Train Crews.

Such actions on the part of the C.P.R. shows real business acumen, because they gain the whole and undivided loyalty of all their Employees, when they know that the C.P.R. are constantly thinking out plans for the Health and Uplifting of each and every one of their Employees, no one holding any position is ever forgotten, there is a silent eye looking over all and the general rule is "that only good and expert men" can hold a position permanently with the C.P.R.

Plaintiff Wins

The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Alberta has handed down a written judgement in the case of Stephen J. Halpin vs Grant Smith and Company and McDonnell Ltd. This was an appeal by the plaintiff from the decision of the Honorable Mr. Justice McCarthy who tried the action with a jury and dismissed the plaintiff's case at the conclusion of the evidence. The action was for personal injuries to the plaintiff and damage to his automobile which injuries and damage he sustained on the 14th, of September, 1919 while motoring from Bow Island to Coalgate by falling in an irrigation ditch constructed by the defendant. The Appeal Court consisting of Chief Justice Harvey, Honorable Mr. Justice Stuart, Honorable Mr. Justice Beck, Honorable Mr. Justice Lves, has allowed the appeal with costs against the defendant.

Mr. F.O. McKenna was solicitor for the plaintiff and Messrs. Bernard, Barnard and Goodall, of Calgary, were the Solicitors for the defendant.

Bow Island North

From our own Correspondent

Mr. Evan Evans, son of John Evans, of Golden Grove Farm, arrived home from the North a week ago, coming on a visit after an absence of two years. Evans has certainly grown up since he left this neighborhood, we wonder if his brothers and sisters knew him.

Our neighbour Mr. Pondroff left Monday for Fernie, B.C., taking his furniture with him, he intends entering the mines there.

Mrs. S.D. Niven of Calgary, accompanied by Mrs. Alex Niven late of Winnipeg, who were visitors to their sister in law Mrs. Manden, for a couple of weeks, left Monday to join their husbands at Erie, B.C. where they have purchased a large tract of ranch land.

A family picnic was celebrated at the Lindquist home on Saturday evening last, a few visitors from the river arrived in wagons during the evening.

There are some very fine fields of grain showing in this north district, altho' quite a number have started to head out, a few have succumbed to the ravages of cutworms, but taking one thing with another we have a pretty good showing.

The River has been very high for last two weeks, dropping one day and raising the next, fishing on the whole is pretty good and several big catches have been reported.

Mr. B. Smith moved his cattle to his river pasture last week, they seem to be in very good shape.

Julius Levine has his irrigating plant installed and we hear he has started operations. Mr. Bruce Manden who had his land surveyed lately by the Department of Reclamation, will have to erect a 600 foot flume before he can put water on his land, but Bruce expects to get started pretty soon in the right direction, where he'll be free of Rain Makers and other miracle waters.

Canada Free to Trade With Russia Says Foster

Ottawa.—The situation in regard to trading between Canada and Russia was clarified in a statement made by George Foster, representative of a Canadian Press representative to the Russian government, who declared that there was no embargo on Canadian exports to Russia and that it was open to any Russian to make legal purchases from Canadian goods. Further, any Russian individual or corporate company is at liberty to set up his place of business in exactly the same manner as the citizens of any other country.

Sir George's statement was as follows: With reference to various rumors which have been about and the statements purported to have been made by various parties as to trade between Russia and Canadians, it may be stated:

"1. No recognition has been asked or is called of the Soviet or any other Russian government.

"2. Russian correspondents from the United States and elsewhere have been informed that there is no embargo on the carrying out of trade by any part of Russia, and that it is open to any Russian to make legal purchases from Canadian goods such terms and conditions as they will mutually agree upon and that no restriction will be placed upon either the making of the contract or the carrying out of the same by export or otherwise which is at the same time applicable to transactions between Canadians and peoples of other countries and that the Canadian government is not in any way supporting by advance credit or otherwise the business done between Russians and Canadians, nor is it the intention of the Canadian government to make any credit in relation there to.

"Any Russian individual or corporate company is at liberty to set up his place of business in exactly the same manner as the citizens of any other friendly country. No recognition has been made of the Soviet or any other Russian government by the minister of trade and commerce or by the government of Canada."

Canadian Council of Agriculture Decides to Take No Further Action in Political Organization.

Winnipeg.—The Canadian council of agriculture concluded the business of its 1920 session here today after long discussion, to take no further action towards political organization than that provided for last January by which organization is to be carried out on a provincial plan.

The principal subject discussed was whether there should be a central co-ordinating committee to take charge of a political platform. A formal resolution was passed requesting the federal government to immediately reappoint the existing Canadian wheat board for the purpose of marketing the wheat crop of 1920.

J. R. Howard, president of the American Farmers' Bureau, addressed the annual convention of the co-operative marketing program of this organization. He said they aimed to eliminate the brokers. He invited the council to send representatives to a conference to be held in Chicago, on July 23 and 24, the object of which he said, was to make the mid-west states a power on the Chicago board of wheat marketing. An application has been received from the United Farmers of Nova Scotia for membership, so that now the council is composed of representatives of the farming organizations of Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

MIXED FARMING IS ADVOCATED BY HON. TOLMIE

MIXED STANDARD PAYS BEST

Agriculture Minister Has Great Faith in the Future of the West.

Saskatoon.—"It is the duty of the Dominion and provincial departments of agriculture to aid the development of mixed farming in all parts of Canada," was a statement made by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, when officially opening the Saskatoon exhibition, "It behooves us to develop our farming on the mixed standard rather than on that of any particular line. Great Britain is an example of what can be done by a nation when it determines to develop its agriculture in the more than one single way."

The minister then referred to the growth in stock breeding with the British Isles, and showed what Great Britain had done for the people. "Our government takes a great interest in the development of agricultural exhibitions, believing that they tend to do more than any other means to develop the rural and urban districts alike. They not only stir the ambitions of the farmers and create competition between them, but they also kindle the spirit of the farmer and city. This is the main important factor."

Referring to the western provinces, Mr. Tolmie said he had a great belief in their future, and he thought that there was room enough for all industries.

Find Amber Deposit

Prospector Reports a Rich Discovery in Manitoba.

The Pas, Man.—With a gunny sack full of pure amber, Jack MacIntyre, former editor of the Canadian Mining Journal, has returned from Cedar Lake, 80 miles southwest of here, where he reports a plentiful supply of amber is scattered about the sand and the muck on the borders of the lake. He states that a canoe can be filled with it in less than an hour. The presence of amber at that place has been known for several years and until Murray examined it for New York and Toronto interests its value was unknown.

Col. J. B. Miller, of the Parsy Sound Lumber Company, and Major James of Toronto, have left here for the amber fields.

Expert Issues A Warning

Present Methods of "Mining" Soil Will Soon Lead West to Disaster.

Winnipeg.—Warning against the "mining" of Canadian prairie lands by "get-rich-quick" settlers who take abundant crops for a few years without utilization of the ground was sounded at the conference here of the commission on conservation of the soil.

One of the speakers at this session, declared Prof. Hanson, "and our soils are rapidly losing their basic fertility in organic matter and nitrogen. We must seek immediately to correct this."

"One of the problems which confronts us is drifting lands, due to lack of soil fibre. Land drifting is causing as much loss in some districts in the west as rust and insects."

He outlined the results of the preliminary experiments and tests being made in Manitoba to determine proper methods to prevent drifting. "While this work was far from completed, the result of the work already done," Prof. Hanson said, "led him to believe that the bromo grass was the easiest method of returning the fibre to the soil."

"Farming under irrigation has been practiced in all parts of Canada and the United States profitably and it should be encouraged," he said. "The use of chemical fertilizers in cultural methods was asserted to be undoubtedly the greatest existing cause to agriculture waste," said Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture.

In his analysis of conditions of the Canadian prairies, Dr. Grisdale stated the causes for the gradually decreasing yield in bushels per acre from the cereal crops would appear to be prevalence of weeds, lack of fibre in soil, poor moisture conservation and poor cultural methods employed by the farmers.

"Farming the ranches suggested were the introduction of certain hood or cultivated crops in some parts and quick maturing crops in others districts, together with better cultural methods to aid in weed control."

Will Get Overseas Editors.
London.—The agenda for the empire press conference at Ottawa, August 5, 6 and 7, provided for addresses on the first day by the general-secretary and premier and discussions on the empire press and the execution of an empire parcel post system.

Winnipeg.—The meetings of the commission of conservation in soil fertility and soil fibre which has been in session here were conducive of much profit. Western Canada's future agricultural welfare and advancement, which implied the conference is expected to be largely dependent on the activities of a permanent committee on research appointed by the commission as the result of the two days' deliberations.

Prompted by the urging of the commission, the members of the Dominion, who discussed the needs of the west, and offered suggestions for betterment of soil conditions the commission adopted a resolution at the final session which it was believed would result in carrying out the plans tentatively formulated.

The committee of experts which is to proceed under the auspices of the commission and with its support "will continue and co-ordinate work which has been started on experimental farms; try out and compare methods of applying knowledge already possessed; seek other new methods of benefit to the practical operation of farming; to obtain the best advantages of the land area."

This committee consists of: J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture of Canada; Prof. John Bracken, principal of the Manitoba Agricultural College; W. G. McKillop, superintendent of the Brandon experimental farm; Prof. E. S. Hoopes, of the University of Alberta; J. H. Fairchild, superintendent of the Lethbridge experimental farm; Prof. G. W. of the University of Alberta; and F. C. Nunnick, agricultural adviser of the commission on conservation, who was named secretary of the committee.

Prof. G. W. McKillop, Edmonton, in an address on "Choice of Crops and Soil Productivity," urged immediate steps to be taken to conserve the land area through lack of proper fertilization. Improvement needed in seed condition and the quality of seed was pointed out by H. I. Newman, Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian Seed Grain Growers, who was also present.

"Canada," he said, "requires each spring about 100,000,000 bushels of wheat to sow and plant her fields."

Opium in Egg Case

Mounted Police Discover Avenue

By Which Drug Was Being Shipped to West.

Ottawa.—The accidental discovery at Papeauville, Que., a few days ago by the Canadian express company, of a quantity of opium which was consigned to Calgary, has furnished the Canadian mounted police with the avenue by which the drug is being smuggled into the west.

The investigation of this drug being shipped to the west during the past few months. For some time past a Calgary restaurant keeper at Papeauville has been in the habit of consigning one, two or three cases of eggs at a time to a fellow expressman at Calgary. There had been no suspicion attached to the shipments until one day last week when one of the cases of eggs forming part of a shipment, was found to be leaking.

The express company officials reported the broken case and when examined the case was found to contain opium.

In the meantime, the consignor apparently got wind that the jig was up, and he has fled. The investigation is going on and the consigner is also being sought.

Tolmie, who will be sworn in by the clerk of the privy council on his return to Ottawa, as minister of agriculture. He is at present in Saskatchewan.

Hon. P. E. Blondin takes the same position that he held in the cabinet under the government of Sir Robert Borden.
